

Flanders
State of the Art

Meet Flanders, a proven destination for international associations

Flanders, the northern part of Belgium, is the unsurpassable Association Hub. With Brussels as its capital, Flanders is home to more than 2000 international associations and trade organisations. Centrally located in Europe, Flanders is an economic hub in the middle of one of the world's highest concentrations of people, money and industries. Innovation is deeply embedded in Flanders. The region takes a leading position in numerous key industries and has strategic research centres, renowned universities, state-of-the art infrastructure, the latest technology and a highly skilled workforce.

Meet Flanders' art cities

Flanders is the place to be for conferences and residential seminars. In this small region you can find everything you are looking for in a destination. The art cities Antwerp, Bruges, Brussels, Ghent, Leuven and Mechelen are home to culinary delights, delicious chocolate and an endless variety of local and artisanal beers.

Meet Flanders' heritage

Not only will you find cutting-edge design that's ahead of its time. You'll also see centuries-old architecture. When we talk about special meeting venues in Flanders, we really do mean special! Wouldn't you like to organise a seminar in an ancient brewery? Or perhaps you prefer having your conference dinner in one of Napoleon's former residences?

Meet Flanders' residents

Art, history, culture, gastronomy and innovation are part of the Flemish DNA. We are not only the country of artists and ground-breaking painters like Rubens, Breughel and Van Eyck. Today, Flemings are innovating industries like logistics, sustainable resources & materials, chemistry, clean tech, agribusiness & food industry, life Sciences & healthcare, electronics and ICT.

Meet in Flanders

One of Flanders most important strengths is the location of its conference centres, right in the middle of the historic city centres. It's this cultural heritage that creates Flanders' appeal as a meeting and conference destination. Association delegates experience unforgettable congresses in unique special meeting venues.

Are you eager to organise exceptional conferences and events?
Get in touch with us at

dheera.majumder@visitflanders.com
Also visit meetinflanders.com